RETAIL ANALYTIC CAMERA / DATA CABLING

International Digital Systems started in this industry as an IT firm, providing IT solutions and services for clients within the United States. By striving to be a full service provider of IT solutions, we quickly expanded to provide the full range of data cabling solutions and its terminated hardware (retail analytic camera) implementation for clients all over the world.

CONSULTING

IT is a critical pillar in an organization's success in today's business environment. The role of technology is changing from a mere enabler of business or process implementations to a key driver of business. IT is opening up new avenues for business growth. Growth brings in new applications and accumulation of IT baggage. It is important that they must be aligned to business in order to maximize their effectiveness. Strategic application collaboration is the need of the hour and it can't be achieved without a comprehensive business IT Strategy.

Step ahead by innovation thinking. Keep up with daily evolving technology and growth of business can lead to uncontrolled growth of your infrastructure. Through a careful strategic plan that's customized to your specific needs, IDS can help you:

MANAGEMENT

Choosing the right management services for your business can be complicated and frustrating. This is a component of your IT infrastructure that can halt employee productivity if not maintained properly. With so many options to choose from, how do you make the right IT management decisions for your business that will allow you to grow, meet server compliance standards, and not incur unexpected costs along the way? Will you have the right IT support services when you need them most?

IDS' certified IT consultants make the process easy for you. We can provide a technical assessment of your current IT infrastructure to ensure your solution and management services meet the long-term and short-term business requirements. IDS offers server/network management support for your existing servers and network equipment or a full implementation of all the needed equipment and IT support services for a consistent monthly fee.
